U.S. Probation Officer Action:

On November 19, 2020, the Court modified the conditions of release for Ryan Stocker Carr to include placement at the community corrections center for a period of six months to address noncompliance and to provide Mr. Carr with a structured residence due to his substance abuse issues.

Though he has had one instance of relapse with cocaine in February 2021, Mr. Carr has regained sobriety, established a residence at a sober living home, established employment, and participates in substance abuse treatment. At this time, it appears that enforcing the community corrections placement would undermine the progress that Mr. Carr has made thus far; therefore, our office is requesting that the condition is suspended with the understanding that if Mr. Carr becomes noncompliant with his conditions of release again, the condition can be implemented with the Court's approval.
